REGION

Sharing latitudinal pedigree with Gisborne in New Zealand; Sonoma and Napa Valleys in the USA; Mendoza in Argentina; Sicily in Italy and Jerez in Spain, Victoria is the southern-most and coolest State of mainland Australia, famed for its diverse wine regions and cool climate.

Home to Fowles Wine vineyards and winery, the Strathbogies Ranges is characterised by massive granite boulders – the very boulders that have given rise, over millions of years, to the sandy loam soils in which our vines grow.

This is a harsh Australian landscape with soil that is nutrient poor and retains very little water – difficult for farmers to grow livestock, but a wonderful landscape for grape growers seeking to grow fruit with great intensity. Couple these attributes with the cool climate, gentle aspect and glorious summer sunshine and the Strathbogies Ranges is an ideal region for growing grapes and making wine.

The mean January temperature is 19.15°C and the average annual rainfall in our family vineyards is 700 mm (28 inches).

Harvest in the Strathbogies Ranges generally occurs from late February through to early May.

WINEMAKING

The fruit for this wine was harvested during the day in the first week of April in 2010 – a glorious vintage of sunny days and cool evenings in the Strathbogie Ranges.

This wine was fermented in high tech sweep-arm fermenters to maximise flavour and colour.

We fermented this wine at around 24° Celsius in stainless steel tanks to preserve primary fruit flavours. We chose to use a yeast strain called AWRI-796. As a relatively neutral yeast strain, AWRI-796 exercises little influence over the fruit, allowing the natural flavour characteristics of the Cabernet Sauvignon grapes to express themselves.

This wine was matured for ten months using a combination of new and old French and American Oak.

THE WINE

This Cabernet, with a dash of Merlot, has a deep crimson colour with violet hues. Aromas of blackcurrant and spicy oak play with hints of mint. The palate is full bodied with dark fruits, finely balanced tannins and a great length of flavour.
